Visit to Alcester Fire by Japanese Students

Firefighter Paul Blower from Alcester and his wife act as Home Stay hosts in connection with Godiva Language School. Paul provides a place for the students to stay with a family while they stay in the area learning English.

In July, Paul had the teacher that accompanies the students stay at their home and kindly arranged for the students to visit Alcester Fire Station for the day. As you can see from the photos, a great time was had by all the students. As a way of saying thank you, Godiva Language School very kindly donated £25 to the Firefighters Charity.

Thank you to crews for making this experience possible. Scroll down to see some wonderful photographs.
